Using Moodle Feedback with Course Completion Page

Course Completion Page · https://www.mooplugins.com/docs/course-completion-page/using-moodle-feedback-with-course-completion-page/

Course Completion Page can direct Students to a Moodle Feedback activity after they complete a course.

This lets Teachers collect course feedback at the end of the learning journey while continuing to use Moodle's standard Feedback activity for questions, responses, and reporting.

Choose the linked Feedback activity

Use Linked Feedback activity to select the Feedback activity Students should open from the completion page.

You can choose a specific Feedback activity from the course.

For example: Your views on this course - This is useful when the course contains more than one Feedback activity and you want to control exactly which one is used.

Automatic Feedback selection

The Auto (first Feedback in course) option lets the plugin automatically use the first available Moodle Feedback activity in the course.

This is useful when the course contains a single end-of-course Feedback activity and you do not need to select it manually.

If you want a specific Feedback activity to be used, select it directly instead of using the automatic option.

What Students see

When Feedback is available, the Course Completion Page shows a feedback action as part of the post-course experience.

Selecting the action opens the linked Moodle Feedback activity.

The Student then completes and submits the Feedback using Moodle’s normal Feedback workflow.

What happens after Feedback is submitted?

Course Completion Page does not create a separate return flow after submission.

Because the Feedback activity belongs to the same Moodle course, Moodle handles the normal navigation after the Student submits their response.

The feedback responses themselves are stored and managed by Moodle’s Feedback activity, not by Course Completion Page.

When is the feedback option hidden?

The feedback option may not appear when:

- The Feedback section is disabled
- No suitable Moodle Feedback activity is available
- The configured Feedback activity is not accessible to the Student

Course Completion Page only displays the feedback action when it can provide a usable next step.
